

Regional constraint and developmental isoform specialization in mammalian DNMT3A

A Constraint changes within the DNMT3A1 tail

B Internal-transcript architecture is broadly therian

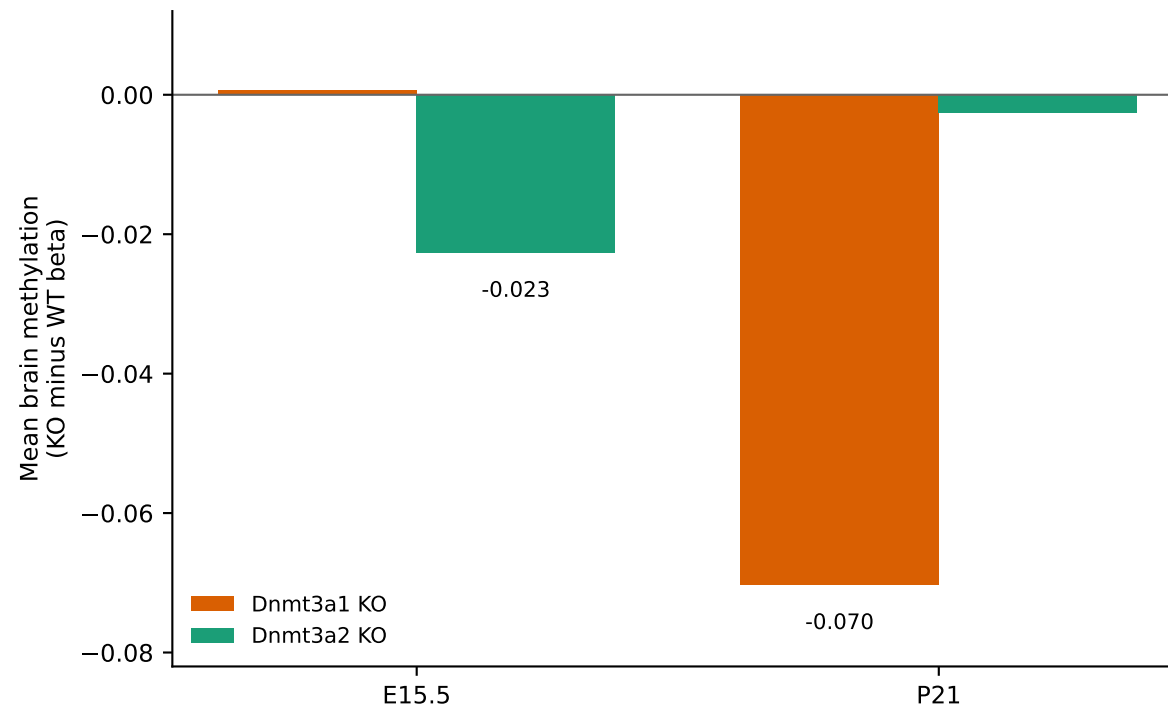

Downstream-start-compatible products

Placental mammals: 13/18 sampled orders

Marsupials: 2 separated orders

Monotreme non-detection is inconclusive

C Isoform effects switch across development

D DNMT3A1 dominates P21 neuronal mCA

